Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 17 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Dry and settled, some frost, fog and low cloud.

Today:
Dry with variable amounts of cloud and some sunshine. Low cloud and fog may prove stubborn in some areas, where it will feel cold. Milder in sunshine, especially over Scottish high ground. Light winds for most.

Tonight:
Low cloud and fog affecting eastern parts of England, spreading westwards. Clear spells across the north and west allowing a frost in places.

Saturday:
Low cloud and fog affecting much of England and Wales, where it will feel rather cold, though some sunshine is possible in the west. More widely sunny across Scotland.

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Dry but mostly cloudy, with long-lasting fog in places on Sunday, but brighter across parts of Scotland. Feeling fresher for most on Tuesday. Generally light winds, but becoming rather cold.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.